Loma Linda University
Loma Linda, California

Department/Division: School of Public Health

Degrees/Programs Offered: MS, MPH, DrPH in Nutrition with Coordinated Program in Dietetics

About the Program: The School of Public Health at Loma Linda University offers degree programs in nutrition that include a Master of Science (MS), a Master of Public Health (MPH) and a Doctor of Public Health (DrPH). Students in these programs may concurrently establish eligibility to write the registration examination for registered dietitian (RD) by completing the requirements of the graduate-level coordinated program accredited by the Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND) of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics (AND), 120 South Riverside Plaza, Chicago, Illinois 60606.

For More Information:
http://www.llu.edu/public-health/nutrition